

Listen carefully

Suspended in mid air in front of you is this mysterious android you have heard so much about.

Bowing is hard to do for someone lacking everything but a head, but Ergo comes pretty close with his gestures.

Greetings once more Ergo, good to see you again!

*You honor me my master.
How can I be of service?*

*Scheol is a dark and evil place,
it is torn and tortured by the great evil that is relentlessly ripping this world apart.*

I wish to start my journey to Scheol.

Are you quite sure you are ready for this yet my Master?

*Ergo tilts his head one way...
then the other and ponders...*

Yes well, I feel as ready as I can get.

One form for gesticulation that actually fits his anatomy...

Ergo pauses.

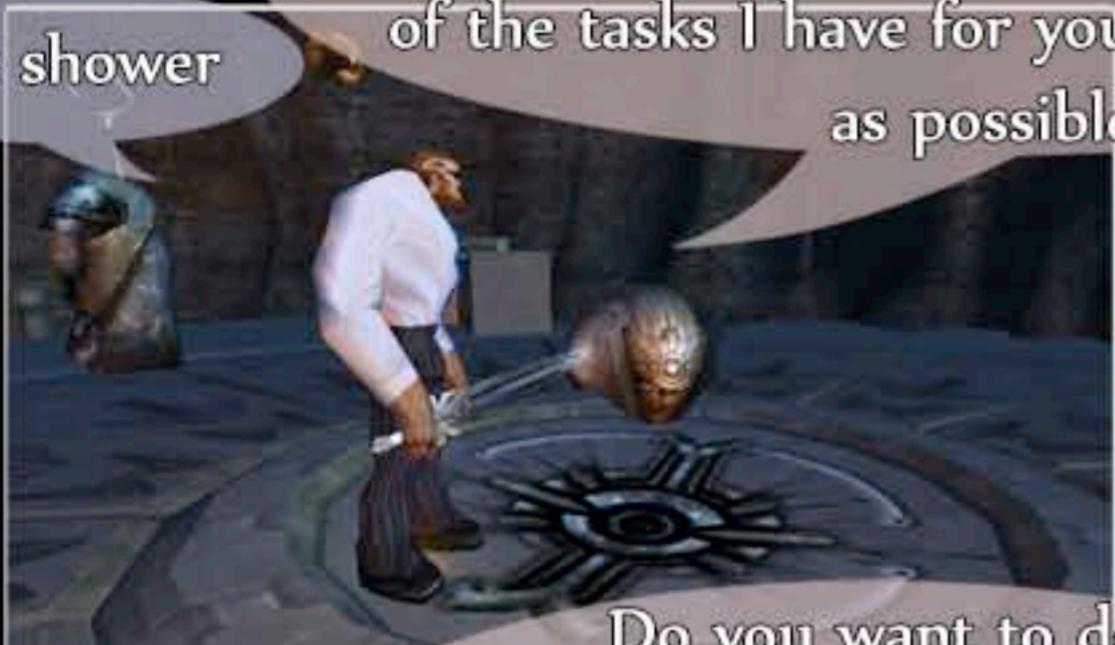

On second thought,
I guess the tasks I need done here in Elysium will be too trivial for someone like you.

We would all be served better if I just let you through so you could take on some of the tasks I have for you there as soon as possible.

Do you want to do me some favors here in Elysium first,
or do you want to go straight
on to Scheol?

What say you?
